Subject: Proposals

The committee met Monday, January 23 to discuss three proposals.

The first was a proposal from the Department of Art and Art History that it be separated into the Department of Art and the Department of History of Art. The committee felt that the grounds for the proposal and the arguments for separating into two departments were compelling.

The next item of business was the approval of a proposed minor in Chinese Language and Culture and changes in the East Asian Studies minor and minor in Japanese Language and Culture. The addition of the Chinese minor and the changes in the East Asian Studies minor and Japanese Language and Culture minor did not involve the immediate addition of any courses. The revised minors were restructured for consistency.

The Managerial Studies Program proposed the deletion of the Information Systems track in its minor due to low enrollments and interest in continuing it. The three remaining tracks in the minor – Corporate Strategy, Financial Economics, and Leadership and Organization – remain unchanged.
